

Boulder Valley Gifted & Talented presents

Social-Emotional Aspects of Giftedness with Terry Bradley

Kids who are gifted not only think differently, they also feel differently.

Growing up gifted is a qualitatively different experience. It is important not only to be aware of their greater academic or creative capabilities, but also to be cognizant of their unique emotional capacities and complexities. This event will be an opportunity for families of children who are gifted to meet, encourage, and support one another. Educators are welcome to share and learn, as well!

FREE Live Webinar
Thursday, November 4, 2021
7:00-8:30 pm

About our presenter:

Terry Bradley, M.A., is past president of Colorado Association for Gifted & Talented and a local gifted education consultant specializing in the social and emotional aspects of giftedness. Terry works with students of all ages, leads professional development, facilitates student discussion groups, and presents at local, state, and national conferences. Her award-winning work is nationally recognized. She also was a founding member of BVGT, and we are excited to host Terry again!

Get your FREE ticket at bvgt.org. You will receive the link on the day of the event.

Join BVGT!

Your $40 annual membership helps strengthen our efforts to advocate for the needs of gifted individuals in Boulder Valley. Exclusive member benefits include priority questions for presenters (email questions to president@bvgt.org in advance), our BVGT Insight e-newsletter, access to the BVGT lending library, and membership with Colorado Association for Gifted & Talented. JOIN TODAY at bvgt.org!